

Main Street Eclipseboro

Main Street Eclipseboro is Hillsboro's historic downtown district and courthouse square. In the days leading up to the eclipse, regional visitors will visit this historic activity center, the heart of Eclipseboro. On eclipse day and the preceding weekend, the courthouse lawn will be open to visitors and will feature yard games (ex. cornhole, giant jenga), picnic tables, festive decorations, and photo ops. Food trucks, vendors, and a stage with live music will be set up on the square. On eclipse day, a free hospitality suite will be open to the public at Historic City Hall. We expect a massive influx of tourists on Monday, April 8.

Eclipseboro Park

Eclipseboro Park (AKA Wallace Park) is rural, pastoral, and family-friendly - all major draws for eclipse tourism. Over 200 people will be tent-camping at the park with folks starting to trickle in on Thursday. On Friday before the eclipse, Hill College and Eclipseboro have partnered to host a Star Party in the Park with telescopes and astronomy talks (no vendors needed for this event). On eclipse day, we estimate an additional ~1200 people will arrive to view the eclipse. The park is the only Eclipseboro location with reserved viewing and is very close to sold out. In addition to standard day passes, Eclipseboro Park is also hosting an exclusive astrophotographer's zone drawing eclipse enthusiasts from all over the world. Eclipseboro Park is the perfect site to connect with nature and bask in totality.

Eclipseboro Landing

Eclipseboro Landing is a festive and highly visible celebration at the outlet mall on I-35. The North Outlet Mall will feature the Cosmic Cowboy Eclipse Festival - a 3-day country music concert and eclipse-viewing event. The South Outlet Mall will host an eclipse carnival with food, beverage, vendor fair, and local art gallery. The City is listing paid parking on Monday for a drive-in eclipse experience or convenient access to the Cosmic Cowboy event next door. Our event is separate from (but complimentary to) the Cosmic Cowboy Eclipse Festival. If you'd like to advertise there, please contact Dedri Hafer at hafer.dedri@gmail.com.
